Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 5 and 7-9 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Blaschke et al. (6,648,133; hereinafter Blaschke'133) in view of Stepanski et al. (5,164,166; hereinafter Stepanski'166) or Mencke (4,678,698). Blaschke'133 discloses a system (10) for packaging a medical device comprising a container (12) having a first compartment housing an orthopedic graft material/medical device (D), a second compartment containing any number of aqueous based liquids (L) such as water, saline or the like and a partition (14) between the first compartment and the second compartment to prevent fluid communication between the first compartment and the second compartment. Blaschke'133 further discloses the partition/at least part of the partition being removable to allow fluid communication between the first compartment and the second compartment. The saline fluid of Blaschke'133 is considered equivalent to an anti-microbial agent as claimed. To the extent that Blaschke'133 fails to show the aqueous liquids such as saline solution comprises an anti-microbial agent, Stepanski'166 shows a conventional saline or disinfecting fluid comprising an aqueous solution containing anti-microbial agent are commonly known in the art (column 2, line 61 to column 3, line 17). Mencke also shows a moistening agent such as water or an aqueous solution or saline solution may contain anti-microbial agents (column 6, lines 63-68). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art in view of

Art Unit: 3728

Stepanski'166 or Mencke to modify the moistening agent such as saline solution of Blaschke'133 so it comprises an anti-microbial for better moistening and disinfecting the medical device.

As to claim 5, Blaschke'133 discloses a cover (18, 46).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-4 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to all pending claims have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

Art Unit: 3728

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
